IN THE UNITED STATES PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE

Applicant: Lily's Kitchen Limited : Trademark Law Office 107
Mark: LILY'S KITCHEN : Trademark Attorney Michelle E. Dubois
Serial No.: 79/127,092 :
Filed: January 8, 2013 :

ELECTRONICALLY FILED ON AUGUST 4, 2015RESPONSE TO FINAL OFFICE ACTION

Commissioner for Trademarks
P.O. Box 1451
Alexandria, VA 22313-1451

S I R:

In response to the final Office Action dated February 4, 2015, please reexamine the application in view of the remarks provided below.

REMARKS

The applicant seeks to register the mark "LILY'S KITCHEN" for pet foods. The Office Action has refused registration under Trademark Act Section 2(d), 15 U.S.C. § 1052(d), because the applicant's mark, when used in connection with the identified goods, is likely to be confused with a previously registered mark. The cited mark is "LILY'S GOURMET BUFFET" for pet food, U.S. Registration No. 4,269,598 of Midwestern Pet Foods, Inc. (Midwestern), an Indiana corporation (registrant).

The applicant respectfully submits that there is no likelihood of confusion between its "LILY'S KITCHEN" mark used with pet food and Midwestern's mark "LILY'S GOURMET BUFFET" used with pet food. The U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, which hears appeals from the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) in trademark application cases pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1071,<sup>1</sup> considers the following factors pertinent to likelihood of confusion:

1. Similarity or dissimilarity of marks in their entirety (appearance, sound, commercial impression);
2. Similarity or dissimilarity of goods or services;
3. Similarity or dissimilarity of trade channels;
4. Conditions of sale (impulse v. planned), i.e., sophistication of purchasers;
5. Fame of prior mark (sales, advertising, length of use);
6. Number of similar marks in use on similar goods or services;
7. Nature and extent of actual confusion;
8. Length of time and conditions of concurrent use without evidence of actual confusion;
9. Variety of goods or services on which mark is or is not used;
10. Market interface between applicant and owner of prior mark;
11. Extent of applicant's right to exclude others from use of mark;
12. Extent of potential confusion; and
13. Any other established fact probative of the effect of use.

G.H. Mumm & Cie v. Desnoes & Geddes, Ltd., 16 USPQ2d 1635, 1637-38 (Fed. Cir. 1990), attributing the factors to E.I. DuPont De Nemours & Co., 177 USPQ 563, 567 (CCPA 1973). The Federal Circuit has stated that the decision maker “must” consider all of the thirteen factors made of record, Nina Ricci S.A.R.L. v. E.T.F. Enters. Inc., 12 USPQ2d 1901, 1903 (Fed. Cir. 1989), and that no one factor is dispositive.

The Office Action found the similarity of the marks, the similarity of the goods, and the similarity of trade channels the “most relevant” of the factors. Office Action at 3. The applicant submits that the Office Action accorded too much weight to the similarity between the marks.

The Federal Circuit addressed a case with strikingly similar factors in Electronic Design & Sales, Inc. v. Electronic Data Systems Corp., 21 USPQ2d 1388 (Fed. Cir. 1992). The court reversed the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board's (TTAB's) finding of likelihood of confusion between Electronic Data's mark EDS for “computer programming services including the design, implementation, and management of electronic data processing programs and telecommunications services” sold to customers in the medical field and the applicant's mark E.D.S. for power supplies or battery chargers often incorporated into medical instruments and devices. Some of the same factors that the court found persuasive in Electronic Design militate against a finding of likelihood of confusion in this application.

<sup>1</sup> The Federal Circuit holds that likelihood of confusion is an issue of law which it reviews de novo on appeal. In re Bed & Breakfast Registry, 229 USPQ 818, 819 (Fed. Cir. 1986) (TTAB decision on likely confusion reversed as a legal issue subject to independent appellate review without deference).

1. Similarities in Goods

Certainly, the similarity between the applicant's goods and the registrant's goods is a factor which cannot be ignored. It should not be given overriding weight, however, as the Office Action appears to have done. Rather, the goods' similarity must be considered along with the other relevant DuPont factors. The applicant respectfully submits that, especially in the context of the parties' respective goods, the difference between the parties' marks is most important to the likelihood of confusion analysis.

2. Differences in Marks

Applicant submits that the two marks are sufficiently distinct so as not to cause confusion in the marketplace. The applicant highlights the very substantial differences between the marks "LILY'S KITCHEN" and "LILY'S GOURMET BUFFET" when the marks are each considered as a whole. It is critically important that marks be reviewed and compared "in their entirety." It is not proper to separate portions of a mark for a comparative analysis. Packard Press, Inc. v. Hewlett-Packard Co., 227 F.3d 1352, 1357, 56 USPQ2d 1351 (Fed. Cir. 2000) (although stating that it had considered the marks in their entirety, the PTO Trademark Trial and Appeal Board (TTAB) erred by dissecting marks when determining likelihood of confusion and, therefore, failing to consider the whole marks). Accordingly, all the words in the applicant's mark and in the cited registration must be considered as part of the analysis. Specifically, the applicant's mark (LILY'S KITCHEN) and the registrant's mark (LILY'S GOURMET BUFFET) are different in appearance, sound, and meaning of the marks.

As to the appearance of the marks LILY'S KITCHEN and LILY'S GOURMET BUFFET, the marks consist of a different number of words. The applicant's mark is two (2) words and the registrant's mark is three (3) words. The marks only contain one identical word "LILY'S" and the remaining words differ.

As to sound, the marks share only one common and identical word "LILY'S." The marks differ in the number of syllables, i.e., the applicant's mark contains four (4) syllables and the registrant's mark contains six (6) syllables.

In each case, the word “Lily’s” appears as a personal name possessive (hence, a subjective term) to a following noun or noun phrase. Thus, the consumer is led to ask: “Lily’s what?” In the applicant’s mark, the “what” is a kitchen. In the registrant’s mark, the “what” is a gourmet buffet. In each mark, the final word (or words) is a noun (or noun phrase) that provides the primary focus of the mark and forms the context for the consumer. Such context is that the mark is used in connection with the entirely different goods of a (common) kitchen or a gourmet buffet.

The applicant contends that, rather than the common word “Lily’s,” the primary or dominant focus of each of the parties’ marks--to the consumer--is the noun portion of the respective marks: “kitchen” and “gourmet buffet.” The consuming public wants to know what goods are being offered by the respective companies; each party’s mark provides that information through the use of a very different set of words after the introductory name “Lily’s.” The initial word “Lily’s,” from the perspective of the consuming public, is not the focus or dominant feature of the marks.

The Office Action focuses on the initial word “Lily’s,” which is common to both of marks under consideration. The “Lily’s” portion of each mark is weak, however, in the sense that it merely leads the consumer to the next portion of the respective marks. The Federal Circuit and PTO hold that a weak portion of a mark receives less (not more) weight in the likelihood of confusion analysis on the rationale that consumers will look to other portions of the marks and will not be confused unless the other portions are similar. See, e.g., In re National Data Corp., 753 F.2d 1056, 1058-60, 224 USPQ 749 (Fed. Cir. 1985). The Federal Circuit found no likelihood of confusion between “Bed and Breakfast Registry” and “Bed and Breakfast International” because the common part was the weak phrase “bed and breakfast.” In re Bed & Breakfast Registry, 791 F.2d 157, 229 USPQ 818 (Fed. Cir. 1986). Similarly, the TTAB has often found that the presence of a common geographical suggestive element (similar to the personal name in this case) does not create a likelihood of confusion. See, e.g., Penn Dairies, Inc. v. Pennsylvania Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Ass’n, 200 USPQ 462 (TTAB 1978) (PENSUPREME and PENN BEST); In re Philip Morris, Inc., 179 USPQ 60 (TTAB 1973) (RICHMOND PREFERRED and RICHMOND BEST); In re Texas Trading & Milling Corp., 178 USPQ 319 (TTAB 1973) (TEXAS BEST and TEXAS PRIDE); Ariola-Eurodisc Gesellschaft v. Eurotone Int’l, Ltd., 175 USPQ 250 (TTAB 1972) (no likely confusion between EUROTONE and EURODISC for records). See Trademark Manual of Examining Procedure (TMEP) §§ 1207.01(b)(viii), (ix). Note that the common terms in all of the marks cited in the cases above were in the first positions of their respective marks.

Marks must be considered as a whole. The Office Action improperly focused only on the common term “Lily’s” as having “dominance.” This is critically important because the marks have entirely different meanings when considered in their entireties. “Lily’s Kitchen” suggests a common room or area where food is prepared and cooked; “Lily’s Gourmet Buffet” suggests refined, elaborate preparations and presentations of meals of several contrasting, often quite rich courses. The distinctions between the two marks are sufficient as to not cause consumer confusion.

3. Variety of Goods/Services Under “Lily’s” Marks

Third-party registrations that cover a number of different goods or services have probative value to the extent that they may serve to suggest that goods or services are of a type that may emanate from a single source, if the registrations are based on use in commerce. See TMEP § 1207.01(d)(iii). Exhibit A lists 290 third-party registrations for marks including “Lily or “Lily’s,” many of which include that name as the first word. Printouts of the PTO records supporting several of these third-party registrations are collected in Exhibit B. The fact that the marks listed are able to coexist without causing consumer confusion indicates that consumers do not necessarily assume a relationship between different marks based on the presence of the word “Lily’s.”

4. Other Factors

None of the remaining DuPont factors appears relevant at this time to consideration of the pending application. The registrant claims a first use date of July 3, 2012 for the cited mark. It is highly unlikely that the registrant’s mark has become famous after so short a period of use. The applicant has filed an intent-to-use application. Accordingly, such factors as actual confusion and concurrent use do not play a role in determining likelihood of confusion in this case.

The applicant would like to further point out that it has attempted to secure the consent of the registrant. According to the attorney of record for the registrant, the registrant does not have any concerns regarding the applicant’s use of the mark, would not oppose the registration of the applicant’s mark, but is unwilling at this time to take the affirmative step of consenting so that the applicant can secure registration of the mark LILY’S KITCHEN.

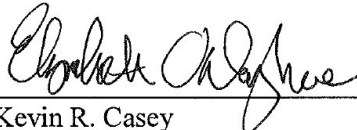

5. Summary

“In every case turning on likelihood of confusion, it is the duty of the examiner to find, upon consideration of all the evidence, whether or not confusion appears likely.” In re E.I. DuPont, 177 USPQ at 568 (emphasis in original). Although the Office Action made specific factual findings on two of the thirteen factors set forth in DuPont, the Office Action failed to assess properly the differences between the marks. Moreover, the Office Action accorded too much weight to the similarities in the goods.

In view of the foregoing remarks, it is respectfully submitted that the trademark application identified above should be passed to publication. The Trademark Examining Attorney is invited to call the applicant's undersigned representative if any further amendment will expedite the prosecution of the application or if she has any suggestions or questions concerning the application or the present Response.

Respectfully submitted,
